

Optimise tomorrow's standard of living with ZugerKB Investment Advisory Savings 3

Saving through the pillar 3a system can be done with a Savings 3 account or – even better – by investing in securities. Investments in securities give you a wide range of additional benefits.

A long-term comparison shows that with an equity portion of even 25 % (dark blue line), investing pillar 3a savings in securities is superior to a Savings 3 account (red line). With an even higher equity weighting the return potential increases further, although price fluctuations will likewise increase. Due to the typically long investment horizon of pension products and regular, staggered deposits, pillar 3a is ideally suited for investing in securities, as major equity market fluctuations are smoothed out.

Diversification: Thanks to the spread of pension assets across various asset categories such as equities, bonds, and even real estate and commodities, as well as different sectors, companies and currencies, you can reduce your investment risk and give it a broader base.

Protection for investors: Investments in the pension area constitute special assets and do not form part of the bankruptcy assets in the event of the issuer's insolvency. As they are regulated investment instruments, they are monitored by the responsible supervisory authority.

Advisory service: Your advisor will support you in selecting the investment instruments. As part of this process, the opportunities and risks of securities investing are weighed up on the basis of your personalised investor analysis.

Invest with even small amounts: You can invest in broadly diversified portfolios with even small amounts. It is particularly advantageous to define a fixed monthly amount and invest this regularly through a standing order.

High liquidity: You can sell fund units at any time. The sale proceeds are credited to your Savings 3 account, and their tax-exempt status remains intact.

Make sure you are aware of the risks

For all their benefits, investments in securities also entail risks such as possible losses. It is therefore important to weigh up the opportunities and risks prior to making any investment.
